

Wren's Newsletter

WB 21st October 2024, Week 8: All about me!

You and your children have all made it to the 1st half term, well done! Haven't they done well. They all seem to be really happy at school which is brilliant and already have a really good ethos for learning, they are curious to learn new things and give everything their best go.

We have been busy doing phonic assessments this week and I am really pleased with the progress that the children have made, especially remembering their harder to read and write words. So, thank you for supporting our learning at school and practicing these at home, it really does make a difference.

Try to continue practicing to read in the half term because a week is a long time to not see the sounds, but have lots of fun as well.

We had a lovely time with our year 6 Buddies this week. They shared time to draw with Wrens and created a nice picture together. It is so nice to see the relationships strengthen and how much Wrens smile when they get to spend time with their Buddy. They also look for their Buddies at lunch time to play with them.

We hope that you enjoyed looking at your children's books and the learning environment at the Parent Drop Inn. Were you shocked at how much they have been doing? I bet they go home and they haven't done anything!

Next term we are learning about different celebrations. In the 1st week back we will learn about Diwali. Leading us into, Firework night, Remembrance, some other celebrations tbc and, of course, Christmas.

We will begin practicing for the Nativity next term and we will have lots of lovely activities closer to Christmas.

After half term all children are to arrive through the black gates by the hall and will walk into class. A Wrens adult will be by the gate to welcome them and an adult will always be in class.

Have a lovely half term break.

