

This week's News

World Book Day last week was hugely enjoyable. The children all had an opportunity to show their wooden spoon characters to the rest of the school in celebration assembly. What creative children we have! Owls and Jays went on a story trek to the woods (below) where they made story characters from The Gruffalo using natural materials found in the woods.

Eagles spent the day at Kent College on Monday, visiting their farm and practical labs. The children all came home with cleverly-designed wooden robots they had made in DT. The farm was a highlight—Boris, the smiley pig, was delighted to meet Chara (above).
