

This Week's News

Hawks (Y6) and Eagles (Y5) set off for the Museum of Kent Life dressed in Victorian costume on Friday. The trip is always a highlight for our oldest pupils. The children took part in several workshops from making rag rugs to finding out about medicine in the Victorian era with Florence Nightingale.

Dr Becky Parker, once described as the 'female Brian Cox', has visited several classes to talk about the world of Science and Scientists. Her infectious enthusiasm definitely rubbed off on the children. Not only did they learn some amazing facts but they also discovered that they are all actually scientists!

After a forced break of three years, one of our much loved Barham traditions is back! This year's inter-house music competition was a fantastic experience for the KS2 children. They worked together in their houses on a musical score for 'The Whistler', a silent cartoon. This year's winner was Becket, conducted by Harper (Hawks) above. Their musical composition set to the film was truly delightful.
