

This Week's News

Hawks (Year 6) led an assembly on Tuesday on the theme of bullying and what to do if you ever feel you are being bullied. The children prepared role plays to show the different types of bullying. Well done to all of the children in Hawks for getting the message across so clearly.

Robins (Y3) had a special visitor this week. Dr Steve Willis, an expert in Roman archaeology from Kent University, gave the children a talk on Roman archaeology and brought in some fascinating artefacts that the children were able to handle.

The outside display boards have been refreshed with some stunning art work. Linked to this term's topic on hot and cold places, Owls have drawn these wonderful penguins.
