

Guess the Teacher

What is your earliest memory? Playing a very caring nurse tending to 'ketchup wounds' and taking temperatures in the reception role play area. Strange, as I'm super squeamish now!

Were you naughty when you were younger? Not at school – but at home I was a bit mischievous.

What was the best thing about school? Spending lots and lots of time outside and playing with friends.

What was the worst thing about school? Tapioca and Jam – a pudding we dreaded every fortnight.

Were you ever told off? I had a habit of saying 'Uh-Huh' instead of 'yes' – I remember being told off for that and when asked if I would try to stop saying it my reply was 'Uh-huh' – oops. I wasn't being cheeky – it just slipped out!!

Who was your best friend at school? Primary – Karen (my rival at the 3-legged race), Secondary – Kim (my hockey team buddy). We are still great friends even though we now live very far away from each other (one lives in North Wales, the other in Scotland).

What did you want to be when you grew up? A pilot – to explore the world!

What was your favourite food? Macaroni Cheese.

Did you like school dinners? Not really – but I did like it when we gained the responsibility of being 'head servers' (we acted as mini-Mummy & mini-Daddy serving food to the younger children).

Did you like your teachers? Yes – I remember them all being kind and creative. Especially our Art & Geography teachers who organised a day when the whole school built a Guinness Record breaking 'longest sand castle in the world' – it was 5 miles long!!!

What were you frightened of when you were a child? The dark.

What colour was your school uniform? Grey, Navy and burgundy – my old school tie hangs in my teacher cupboard at school!

What was your favourite subject? English – I loved reading and writing stories.

Did you always do your homework? Yes – we never had that much to do.

What was your favourite animal? Elephants – I loved the idea of a trunk water fight ☺.
